

Content Creation Proposal

WWE SummerSlam: Minnesota — Two-Night Event

August 1–2, 2026 | U.S. Bank Stadium | Minneapolis, Minnesota

To the WWE Content & Partnerships Team,

I'm a photographer and visual content creator with a background in portrait and people-focused storytelling. I'm reaching out to propose a content partnership for WWE SummerSlam: Minnesota at U.S. Bank Stadium in Minneapolis on August 1–2, 2026 — in exchange for two complimentary tickets to the event.

What I'm offering is fan-perspective content: the authentic, emotionally rich documentation of the SummerSlam experience that production cameras can't capture. My background is in photographing people and human reaction — which makes a two-night stadium WWE event a genuinely natural fit.

Why SummerSlam: Minnesota Is a Unique Opportunity

- The 39th SummerSlam — WWE's second-biggest event of the year, behind only WrestleMania — coming to a stadium for the first time in Minneapolis history
- U.S. Bank Stadium seats over 66,000 and has hosted Super Bowl LII and the NCAA Men's Final Four — an elite venue that elevates everything shot inside it
- First WWE Premium Live Event in Minneapolis since TLC: Tables, Ladders and Chairs in 2019 — a long-overdue return to a city with deep wrestling history and an exceptional fan base
- A two-night format means twice the storylines, twice the crowd energy, and twice the fan moments to document — a rare and rich content opportunity
- First SummerSlam to air on the ESPN streaming service in the US, alongside Peacock — massive concurrent viewership and social conversation to publish into
- Minnesota Sports and Events is delivering ancillary fan and community events around the main shows — additional content opportunities beyond the stadium itself

What You Receive

Deliverable	Detail
Event Photography	40–60 high-resolution edited stills across both nights — fan energy, crowd reactions, stadium scale, atmosphere, and the Minneapolis experience
Portrait-Style Fan Shots	Candid and directed shots of the audience in their element — the emotion, the joy, the intensity — my strongest creative territory
Short-Form Video	3–4 atmospheric Reels-ready clips (30–60 seconds each) capturing the SummerSlam fan experience from inside the stadium
Written Recap	A 600–800 word editorial-style recap of the two-night fan experience, suitable for WWE.com, a partner site, or social caption use

Full Usage License	All photo, video, and written content fully licensed for WWE's commercial use across web, social, and marketing — no expiration
Turnaround	First selects within 48 hours of each night; full edited delivery within 7 days of the event closing

My Angle: The Fan Experience Story

WWE has world-class production coverage of what happens inside the ring. What's harder to capture — and what resonates most on social media — is what's happening in the seats. The family that flew in from across the country. The section that erupts when a superstar's music hits. The U.S. Bank Stadium crowd at full volume across two consecutive nights.

That's the content I create. My portrait work has always been about finding the genuine, unrehearsed moment. A two-night stadium SummerSlam — the biggest annual outdoor-energy event in wrestling — is one of the richest environments imaginable for that kind of storytelling.

What I'm Requesting

Two (2) complimentary tickets to WWE SummerSlam: Minnesota at U.S. Bank Stadium in Minneapolis — ideally covering both nights (August 1 and August 2, 2026). I am flexible on seat location and happy to work with whatever access level is available for a content partnership of this kind.

About Me

- DSLR and mobile photography equipment — capable of high-quality stills in fast-moving, low-light stadium environments
- Portrait and people-first approach — I shoot the human moment, not just the spectacle
- Video and written content capabilities in addition to photography — a complete, multi-format content package from a single collaborator
- Two-night coverage means a more comprehensive story arc than a single-night event — I'd document both nights for a full SummerSlam weekend narrative
- Available for a pre-event briefing or coordination call with your team if helpful

Next Steps

I'd love to connect with your team to discuss whether this is a fit. I'm happy to share portfolio samples, answer questions about the content I'd produce, or refine the deliverables based on what would be most useful to you.

Thank you for your time — and for bringing SummerSlam to Minnesota.

Much love,

SHARLENA LUYEN
